Book description

'101 Extraordinary Investments' is a fascinating exploration of curious and unusual ways to make money. Inspired by the great adventurers of the Victorian era, who hunted for everything from orchids to shrunken heads, this book keeps the spirit alive with its own modern twist on collectibles.

A full range of subjects is covered, from Superhero comics, Toy Robots and Magic Tricks to Cigars, Fine Wine, Feudal Titles and Pedigree Pigs.

Each topic is covered in a comprehensive and entertaining manner providing subject insight as well as practical investment guidance, including cash returns and contact information. This will include 'did-you-know?' style fact boxes. There is a bite-size chapter layout that aims to make it an easy-to-read and fun compendium with a sense of period charm, with a wide eclectic spread of opportunities.

It also aims to capture reader imagination by giving exclusive membership of a Fellowship of Extraordinary Investors society as reward for purchasing the book.

Each investment is accompanied by attractive ink-and-pen drawing in keeping with the quirky Victorian theme that will be enhanced by a fine quality book finish.

About the author

Toby Walne is an award-winning national journalist who specialises in alternative investments. A writer for the Mail on Sunday he also regularly contributes to other newspapers and is a magazine columnist. Toby was first kicked out the office more than a decade ago and told not to return until he had a story. He has rarely been back in since. In search of adventure and stories Toby has motorcycled from John O'Groats to Lands End, visited the war zones of Afghanistan and Iraq, climbed up Mount Kenya and taken numerous trains through Swindon and Doncaster.
